Hi HED team,

This is one of two additional emails with documents from Hartz that we received today and are forwarding along. We are reminding Hartz that while we appreciate additional data, the agency is working on developing a response to the Court's decision and time for reviewing any new information is limited. If anything is needed, please let me know.

Thank you,
Trish

Trish,

Please find attached the assessment we discussed on May 5. We will be submitting the documents through the EPA portal to obtain an MRID number but I have been advised that documents sent via the portal are taking 6 weeks to reach the intended destination. I will advise you of the MRID once assigned .

I would like to recommend that EPA review and propose we set up a meeting for May 12 or 13, 2020 to discuss any Agency questions or information requests.. Hartz fully understands the time restraints and continues to express a strong desire to assist by responding given the importance for safe, effective, economical flea and tick control.
